

ROBYN MOORE

You've probably never seen Robyn Moore, you might not recognise her name, but you've definitely heard her.

For 30 years, her voice has been heard in almost every home in Australia in well-known TV and radio commercials, documentaries, training videos and animation productions. She created all the female voices in Australia's longest-running radio comedy How Green Was My Cactus and has enchanted children as the voice of Blinky Bill.

Born in Tasmania, Robyn Moore spent her early years on sheep and cattle stations from Tasmania to outback Queensland, where her father was a stockman. On these isolated properties, her creative imagination began to develop and the wireless became her 'friend'.

Now she's more of a professional speaker, appearing at conferences to reveal her great secret... the power of the word. And in her talented mouth, words are very powerful indeed.

Robyn Moore is an inspirational speaker who challenges and questions how we manage our lives from the workplace to our personal relationships. She is one of Australia's most in-demand female speakers, leaving people able to recognise old habits and behaviours and take responsibility for choices. You could say she "sells people back to themselves" so they rediscover their energy, purpose, passion and their sense of humour. When she speaks ... people listen ... and take the action necessary to create the outcomes they want in their lives!
